Tells Republicans at the Waldorf Conference He Wants State Convention.

Large Attendance and Enthusiam Cheers Up the Party War Horses.

The biggest and hopefullest and cheerfullest collection of Republicans that has assembled in New York in three years met to-day in the ballroom of the Waldorf to discuss the plan of holding an unofficial State convention at Saratoga next August to map out a platform and name certain candidates to be voted on in the direct primaries. At a meeting of the State comnitte held during th morning at State headquarters, it was decided that the question of holding a convention should be decided by that body, although all hands might take part in the discus-

Members of the State Committee, about every County Chairman in the State, and hundreds of minor Republican leaders attended the conference. In the crowd were many who left the party with Col. Roosevelt and have since returned. Prominent among them was Comptroller William A. Predergast, who sat on the platform with Senator Root, Congressman Calder and William Berri.

Job Hedges made the principal address in support of a convention at the Walderf meeting. Mr. Hedges is a candidate for the nomination for Governor and comes right out and says so. He also believes that the saratoga convention should name all the State officers, but is willing to compromise on that feature. He doesn't think much of the Tammany primary law anybow, deeming it one conceived in hypocrisy and born in ig-

"Are you afraid of the Colonel?" asked Mr. Hedges. "If so, why? The Colonel has made two important discoveries. He discovered a river in South America, and on his return to New York he discovered a militant and fearless Republican Party."

Many of those in attendance at the Waldorf conference were anxious to make speeches for or against the convention plan. Decision may not be reached to-day. It is considered; quite certain that some sort of a convention will be held in Baratoga. If necessary Job Hedges will go up there and hold one all by himself. WHAT DEVELOPED FROM TALKS

WITH LEADERS. Talks with the leaders brought out these apparently well grounded po-

The District-Attorney, Charles 8. Whitman, is the choice of a majorky of the up-State leaders for the nomination for Governor on the ground that his record in office has established him as a powerful vote getter.

That Job E. Hedges, who has the support of the old conservative element for the nomination, is willing to make some modifications in his demand that a convention in Satatoga name the State officers to be voted on in the direct primary.

That a compromise proposition wili probably be adopted by which a convention will be held, a tentative platform will be adopted, fifteen delegates at large to the Constitutional Convention and a candidete for the Court of Appeals

The Bishop called attention to late labor troubles and asserted that the strikes in Lawrence, Mass., Northern Michigan and Colorado will leave a bitterness of feeling that will last a generation. He deciared that numbers of foreign laborers have been misused for the pockets of persons who know little and care little for conditions.
